

COMMUNITY SUPPORTED AGRICULTURE

Get connected to your local farmer and really know where your food is coming from.

Community-supported agriculture (CSA) harvest subscription programs are a way for Coloradans to connect directly with their local farmers.

When you purchase a subscription, you receive a weekly bounty of fresh, seasonal produce, and you're helping offset that farm's planting, harvesting and operations costs. Most CSA subscriptions have different size options so you have the flexibility to pick the amount of produce that's right for you or your family. Additional benefits include recipe ideas, on-farm workshops, events and more.
